A New Level of Hotel Dining?

Level III, a forthcoming all-day restaurant/lounge at the JW Marriott, hopes to provide tourists and locals alike with a stylish third-floor perch for confabbing over modern American shared plates and custom cocktails. Slated to open on Friday, the meeting spot will proffer morning and lunch fare by day, but plans to turn down the lights and crank up the music later in the evening, when small and large plates will be served at tables and at a fireplace-flanked bar.
